GREELEY & BROWN CLUB.

Andrew Stevenson,

The Eloquent Democratic Orator, of Mansfield, will speak at Woodward Hall, this Thursday Eve.

TURN OUT AND HEAR HIM.

Seats specially provided for the ladies.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The blackberry crop is light. Mechanics of all kinds very busy just now. There is every prospect of a fine corn crop in Knox county. Don't drink water that has stood too long in a metallic pitcher. A few drops of oil of sassafras keeps paste from becoming sour. The weather during the past week has been excessively warm. Andrew Boughton, an old citizen of Mansfield, Ohio, died Saturday week. Newark is to have a new depot, and the American shouts, "Glory, hallelujah!" If a friend asks to borrow your umbrella, tell him you will be damped if you do. Weinsburg, Holmes county, has but one Grant man, and he runs the Post-office. The Ohio State Fair will be held this year at Mansfield, commencing on the 2nd of September.

John Kays committed suicide, near Zanesville, Ohio, last week, by purposely eating wild turnips.

Mrs. J. K. Miller has returned to Mt. Vernon, after a very pleasant sojourn in Europe of a few months.

The Newark Advocate says Dr. Kirk is "fair to look upon" but is of no particular account as an orator.

As there is no danger of the comet striking now, it is perfectly safe to buy real estate in Mt. Vernon.

Our townsman, Judge Adams, has been quite ill for several days past. Glad to report that he is now better.

Wicked boys knock green apples off the trees and eat them, just to enjoy the fun of taking "cholera medicine."

T. Ewing Miller, of Columbus, is executor of the will of Eleanor Miller, deceased, late of Mt. Vernon—bond $18,000.

Hon. F. H. Hurd and D. B. Kirk, Esq., of Toledo, were in Mt. Vernon last week, both in the enjoyment of good health.

The Cardington (Ohio) Republican, has hauled down the names of Grant and Wilson, and hoisted those of Greeley and Brown.

Joseph Avery, a Newark boy, 12 years old, had his foot so badly crushed by jumping off the cars, that amputation became necessary.

Hon. W. H. Smith, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, arrived at his home in Mt. Vernon, last week, on his summer vacation.

The re-union of the Sherman Brigade, at Perryville, Ashland county, on Monday, was a grand success. There were at least three thousand persons present.

Our citizens were treated to a delightful serenade on Tuesday evening, from the Brass Band, stationed on the top of the Light House. Such high notes were never heard in Mt. Vernon before.

The re-union of the officers of the old 76th regiment, on the Munson farm, near Granville, on Wednesday week, is spoken of as a very pleasant affair.

Dan Rice's great Circus is "swinging around the circle," and will be in Mt. Vernon on Monday next, as will be seen by an advertisement in another column.

Mr. Charles Babbs informs us that his horse, which was supposed to be stolen, was found out in Morrow county, in "good order and well conditioned."

Mr. W. F. Baldwin has gone into the Bergin House in the capacity of clerk. If he leaves the Grant Club alone he will make the fulfillment of his duties a success.

The Cleveland, Mt. Vernon and Delaware Railroad company have changed the time of the annual meeting of stockholders from the 23d of July to the third Tuesday of February.

The indications are that there will be two Mt. Vernon boys in the next Congress of the United States, viz: Henry B. Banning, now of Cincinnati, and Frank H. Hurd, now of Toledo.

Our townsman, Mr. Chris. Keller, has a horse that was 30 years old last Spring, and is able not only to eat his oats, but can do as much honest work as any five year old horse in the county.

Mr. J. F. Townsend, of the firm of Townsend Brothers, Granite and Marble Dealers of Zanesville, has just sold a $1000 Scotch Granite Monument for the grave of J. W. Seymour, deceased.

MARRIED—At St. Paul's Church in this city on the 15th inst., by the Right Reverend Henry Lee, Bishop of Iowa, HENRY M. LEE, Esq., to Mrs. HARRIET B. WILSON, both of Kansas City, Mo.

An obstreperous "jamboree" un hitched a horse and wagon in front of Wells Bros. Grocery, on Monday evening last, and frightened the animal as to cause it to run off, demolishing some fifteen or twenty watermelons in front of the store.

Mr. R. D. Incho, recently of the Commercial House, this city, left on Tuesday last for Fremont, Ohio, where he has been engaged as clerk of the Ball House. Incho is a popular young fellow, and will no doubt give satisfaction in his new quarters.

We are sorry to announce that Father Brent, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, this city, has been lying dangerously ill of inflammation of the bowels, on his farm at Danville, for some weeks past. At last accounts, he was improving, and hopes were entertained of his recovery.

Marble's Masonic Band, of Akron, arrived in the City late on Wednesday night, on the C. M. & D. Railroad, on their way to the Freeman's Tournament at Zanesville, and while waiting for the R. & O. train, they serenaded Judge Hard, General Jones, and some other citizens. This is one of the best bands in the State.

We had a call on Saturday from J. B. Bolton, Esq., of Oskaloosa, Iowa, a gentleman of high intelligence and agreeable manners. Mr. Bolton left Knox county for Iowa about ten years ago, where he studied law, and is now practicing his profession. He is a Republican, but supports Honest Horace Greeley. Like all sensible Knox county men, who locate elsewhere, he subscribed for the "Good Old BANNER."

A CHANCE FOR THE BLOWTOR.

A Challenge.

I have been informed that R. C. Kirk reported at Sparta, on Saturday last, that I had bet back on a five hundred dollar bet on Grant being elected the next President. Now, as Mr. Kirk is a betting man, I will make him a present of twenty dollars, if he or any of his betting friends will bet me five hundred dollars that Grant will be elected the next President. The money to be deposited in either of the Banks, or in any responsible man's hands. JEROME ROWLEY. Mr. VERNON, OHIO, Aug. 19, 1872.

Ohio State Fair.

The citizens of Mansfield are actively at work, making every possible arrangement to insure full success to the next Ohio State Fair, which will be held at that city commencing Monday, September 24, and ending Friday, September 28th. The County Fair Grounds, which are among the largest and handsomest in the State, have been greatly extended, taking in a most beautiful grove, which has been well provided with an abundance of nice seats and other conveniences.

In the way of accommodations for eating and sleeping, the most ample arrangements have been concluded. The Wilber House, which is a first-class Hotel, will accommodate about 500 persons. The St. James, another first-class Hotel, will accommodate a like number. The Bernard will do its share towards entertaining visitors; and the old American is now being enlarged and remodelled so as to receive a large number of guests. The Atlantic, the Pacific, and several smaller Hotels will do their best to provide places for the crowd; and in addition to these, a majority of the private residences will be thrown open to accommodate those who may wish to attend the State Fair.

All the Railroads leading to Mansfield have agreed to extend to visitors and exhibitors every facility expected on such occasions. We especially call attention to the fact that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will carry passengers to Mansfield and return, for one full fare the round trip, and will carry freight free when returned, without change of ownership.

Knox county will do its full share towards swelling the crowd of visitors to the State Fair.

The Great Fair in Cleveland.

The time draws near which will witness the 3d meeting of this great enterprise in Cleveland; the time appointed being from the 10th to the 14th of September. It is unnecessary to speak of the interest which all who have witnessed the Fair in former years, naturally experienced in view of the occasion. In three years this enterprise, backed by the influence, judgment and liberality of many of the most solid men of Ohio, has assumed an importance which places it at the head of kindred projects in the West. Its prosperity may be seen in the statement that its premiums offered this year amount to $30,000; that its grounds are now 100 acres in extent; that the buildings contain over 45,000 square feet of exhibition room; that its purses for running and trotting races are sufficiently large to attract the most noted horses in the land to its courses; that railroads have agreed to carry all passengers at half fare, and that the entries thus far give promise of being much more extensive and varied than ever before. In view of these attractions, and the benefits which all must derive from witnessing the novelties, and studying the improvements which are being made in all departments of industry, as well as the wholesome effects of a season spent in recreation, we counsel our readers to make the Northern Ohio Fair the occasion of a visit to Cleveland.

Whirlwind—Iron Bridge Destroyed.

A gentleman, who came from New Castle last week, reports the destruction of an iron bridge, over the Mohican river, at that place, on Saturday week. The same destructive storm that passed over Mt. Vernon and vicinity, prevailed at that place with equal force and damaging effect. While the storm was raging at its highest pitch, on the evening in question, a terrible crash was heard, as of the falling of a building. Morning revealed that the county bridge, which was of iron construction and but recently erected, had been completely lifted from its fastenings and thrown into the river. The indications in the immediate neighborhood showed very plainly that a whirlwind had been the cause of the damage.

Mr. Potwin's Successors.

Messrs. A. A. Trot and Willard S. Hyde have made arrangements to succeed Mr. Potwin in the Produce Business, under the firm name of TROT & HYDE. These gentlemen have long been in Mr. Potwin's employ—the first as shipping clerk, and the latter as general book-keeper. They are active, intelligent, live business men, and being thoroughly familiar with the entire business of the late friend and employer, will no doubt carry it on to the entire satisfaction of those who have had dealings with Mr. Potwin in his life-time.

New Boot and Shoe Store.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. BENFREW & DENNETT, who have just opened a splendid new Boot and Shoe Store in the Norton Building, on Main Street, second door above the Public Square. These gentlemen were from Millersburg, and come well recommended as good business men and honorable dealers. We cordially recommend them to the patronage of the citizens of Knox county.

On last Sunday an excursion train, consisting of a locomotive and two cars attached, came over to Mt. Vernon on the C. M. & D. Railroad, bringing with them some forty persons, mostly railroad attaches. The object in coming over was to bring the pony engine "Kokosing," which has been at Akron, for repairs, and to return the engine "Cuyahoga Falls." After dining at the Bergin House, and afterwards strolling through our city, the party departed for Akron, at 4 o'clock, P. M., well pleased with Mt. Vernon and its surroundings.

Knox County Teacher's Institute.

The Knox County Teacher's Institute will be held at Fredericktown, commencing Monday, August 26, and continue five days. Prof. Schuyler of Cleveland, and Prof. Marsh of Mt. Vernon, with the assistance of teachers will conduct the exercises. Teachers of Knox and surrounding counties are earnestly urged to attend. The important information imparted and benefits derived, doubtless, will enable teachers to obtain certificates for a longer period, at the examinations that will be held at the close of the Institute.

Ample accommodations will be provided for all attending.

A Show Worth Seeing.

Our readers will remember that during the great World's Exposition at Paris an American circus, organized in the United States expressly for the purpose, went over to the French capital and eclipsed all competitors by the brilliancy of its performance and the superior skill and daring of the troupe, as equestrians, gymnasts and athletes. They had thirteen of the best circus of Europe to contend against, but the American boys triumphed over all. This company has retained its organization, and, under the leadership and control of Dan Rice, of cosmopolitan fame, is now traveling and exhibiting to immense crowds throughout the Union, as the great PARIS PAVILION CIRQUE.

The management, not believing it to be necessary to combine a few cages of oft exhibited animals with their enterprise, in order to make it successful, determined to allow it to remain, intact, a first class, legitimate Circus, as it was in Europe. The result has exceeded their most sanguine expectations, and where "Circuses and Menageries," this season, have been exhibited to empty benches, the Paris Pavilion Circus has been crowded to its capacity. The names of DAN RICE, and

DAN RICE, has contributed largely to its success, and he has more than realized the expectation of his many friends and admirers, by the able and skillful manner with which he is conducting his new enterprise, and by the irresistible drolleries and infinite fund of anecdotes and ludicrous reminiscences with which he regales his audiences. Dan is no buffoon in motley, capering, mugging and grimacing, to catch the eyes or tickle the ears of the groundlings, but his witticisms have the snap of reason and common sense, often pointing a moral and adorning a tale. But it is not alone as a wit that Dan Rice has made his mark in the profession he has chosen—he is remarkable powers as a trainer, or educator, if we may so speak is evinced in the blind horse,

Who obeys his master's verbal commands with literal exactness and manifests a degree of intelligence quite equal to some human beings. This horse is perfectly blind and has been so for many years, yet at a word from Mr. Rice, given in the most ordinary tone of voice, he advances, retreats, grades, wheels to the right or to the left, stands erect on his hind legs and pirouettes, kicks or strikes with either foot, as he is directed, and performs a multitude of feats such as no other horse, either blind or endowed with vision, has done. There is not a properly constituted man or woman in the world who does not love horses and take delight in the exhibitions of intelligence and sagacity of which the horse is capable. And where can the horse be seen to such advantage as in the circus, when exhibited by men who have devoted their lives, as has Dan Rice, to the study of his capabilities.

Among the oddities which Col. Rice introduces to his patrons is

LORENZO MAYA, The great Spanish grotesque and trick clown, whose method of amusing the people while it is exceedingly funny it is entirely original and new to this country. Signor Maya has had many startling adventures during his career before the public, and it is related of him that being in Paris during the Prussian siege, and having an engagement to fill in London, he made his escape in a balloon from the beleaguered city in order to keep his appointment. Another brilliant star in Mr. Rice's constellation is MISS LIZZIE MARCELAUS, Whose dazzling beauty and brilliant horsemanship has turned the heads of half the young men in the country. This young candidate for public favors, a timid Miss of "sweet sixteen," interests visitors to the Paris Pavilion Circus by her natural grace and modest ways on horseback. This favorable impression is readily accounted for when it is remembered that most equestriennes depend entirely for success on forced smiles and studied positions, while the riding of Miss Marcelaus is the perfection of artless yet artistic grace.

THE MAN FISH.

Charles Weightman is another novelty which Mr. Rice introduces to his patrons. Mr. Weightman is claimed to be the most expert swimmer in the world, and his feats in and under the water border on the marvellous. An enormous gas tank filled with water in which Mr. Weightman descends, clothed in an appropriate costume, and performs a number of wonderful experiments, such as eating, drinking and smoking under water.

PROF. J. H. DAVIS' SCHOOL OF COMIC POSING Will furnish infinite amusement for everybody. These comical little brutes are broken entirely different from those ordinarily exhibited and are without doubt the most perfectly trained dogs in the world. Mr. Davis' dogs are a show in themselves and to see them is well worth the price of admission.

Perhaps the most extraordinary feat during the performances is the TRIPLE SUMERSAULT. Over a column of horses by Frank Gardner, the young athlete and equestrian. This feat has never been accomplished by any other artist and in fact it is so replete with peril that none dare attempt it.

But were we to occupy an entire page we could not describe half the novelties which are in store for the good people of Mount Vernon on Monday, August 26, at which date the great Paris Pavilion Circus is to visit us.

Read What the People say of the Sterling Dish-washing and Drying Machine.

"We are satisfied that it accomplishes all that is claimed for it." "We believe it will be found invaluable as a labor-saving machine." "There is no wetting of hands, and no breaking of dishes, but there is a wonderful saving of time." One lady says: "If I think it will do more to lighten the drudgery of house work than all the inventions of the age."

The price of the machine is within the reach of all families, and one machine will last a life-time. It cannot break or get out of order. It is impossible for the agent to call at the houses in the city so if those who are desirous of obtaining one these machines will leave their addresses at Taft & Co.'s Bookstore, the agent will call on them. This is the last week in Mount Vernon. Please leave your addresses as soon as possible.

Mr. John Kelly, of the vicinity of Claysville, raised a Durham calf which weighed when one year and three days old, twelve hundred and twenty-five pounds.

Its mother was weighed at the same time and drew fifteen hundred and fifty pounds. Reuben Kramer, a machanic, on blacksmith, left Portsmouth, July 29, on the steamer Panio Dugan, was last seen asleep that night near the boiler on the lower grade, and it is supposed he fell or walked overboard. Nothing has been heard of him since.

An attempt was made the night of August 12th, by unknown persons, to murder M. Q. Gray, a merchant of Cambridge, Guernsey county, by firing at him through his bed-room window. Two balls were fired but did no injury. So say the Guernsey Times.

The Elyria Democrat says: Captain Festus Cooley, who came to Elyria in 1817, and has lived there ever since, died at the residence of his son, Festus Cooley, Jr., August 9th, aged 88 years. This leaves but one survivor of the first band of pioneers who settled in Elyria, Artemus Beebe.

Major W. S. Hickox, of Mansfield, fell while on Fort Grant, St. Clair river, lately, some eight feet, into shallow water, striking a log. One of the bones of his right leg was fractured, and his ankle dislocated. He is now at home getting well. So says the Herald.

The Shiloh, Richland county, Times makes note of the death of Mrs. Annie Marling, aged 55 years, who departed this life at her old home, near the old Salem church, where she had lived for the past fifty-four years, a few days since. Mrs. Marling, with her husband, arrived in this country in 1817.

On last Wednesday evening week at the Cedar Junction, a young man named Wash Arnold attempted to kill his father by cutting him with a knife. The knife entered the body under the left arm, inflicting a dangerous wound. Some family difficulty was the cause. Arnold has not yet been arrested.

On Saturday afternoon, a large barn belonging to Michael Collenbach, of Walnut creek township, Holmes county, was struck by lightning and burnt to the ground. Mr. Collenbach had just finished putting in his harvest, which, together with a lot of farm implements, was consumed. Loss about $5,000. Insured in the worthless Germania, of Cleveland. So says the Farmer.

The Zanesville Signal says: A married woman, the mother of a child, whose husband is in the West, eloped from this city last Friday with a man who had been employed on her father's farm. The father, who seems to have confided in the scamp, had previously loaned him $300 with which to purchase a horse which was expended for that purpose. But afterwards the money also eloped with the scamp.

The Zanesville Signal says: Last Monday evening during the terrible rain storm, the barn of Wm. McCaslin near Bridgeville was struck by lightning and burned with all its contents, including four valuable horses. As Mr. McCaslin was a poor man being a tenant of the property, the loss is a serious one to him and his neighbors will no doubt assist him.

The vote in Marietta, on Saturday, for the appropriation of $150,000 for the building of the Ohio Valley and the Muskingum Valley Railroads, resulted in 926 for and 48 against in the city, and in the townships, 1,335 for to 205 against, being 924 more than the required majority.

The Bellevue Gazette says a field of seven acres on the Major Purdy farm, which has been under cultivation for fifty-two years, yielded an average of thirty bushels of wheat to the acre. This field has grown wheat and oats every year but one during the time mentioned, and for the past eight years has been seeded with wheat.

The Mansfield Herald says: Rev. J. E. Cheshire, recent pastor of the Market Street Baptist Church, in this city, has declined the call from the Wilmington (Ohio) church. He has since received earnest and unanimous calls from Baptist Churches at Painesville, Ohio, and Monroe, Pa. He has not, as yet, decided which he will accept.

Henry C. Noble, Esq., of the Columbus bar, had a narrow escape a few days ago, at Putnam-Bay. One day last week he took a boat and went to bathe, about six miles out. He was taken with cramp, but managed to get into the boat and row for some distance, when he fainted away. A fisherman who saw the boat floating, approached and found Mr. Noble prostrated in the bottom. After much exertion, he was so far recovered as to be pronounced out of danger.

Grant's office-holders, all over the country, subscribed for the New York Day Book a few weeks ago, because it was supposed to be hostile to Greeley; but since the Day Book raised the name of Honest Horace to its mast-head, the Bread and Butter Brigade are cursing it like fury. Served 'em right!

New York Wool Market. There is rather more business doing this week, and prices are firmly maintained. Foreign wools continue in best request, and the local market is not so active. Domestic wools are but little inquired for, with increasing receipts stocks accumulate. Pulled wools are in moderate demand at about previous figures. Manufacturers buy cautiously, however, and in view of the dullness prevailing in the goods' market are not inclined to anticipate their sales to great extent. Sales include 150 bales super pulled, $38/7 1/2; 3500 lb. Texas at 35; 30,000 lb Oregon at 45; 40,000 lb unwashed, do; 40 bales lambs pulled, 61c; 10,000 lb tub washed, 70/11 1/2; 5,000 lb unwashed, 55c; 30,000 lb Georgia, 50c; 1000 lb full sorted California at $1.10. Mr. Collins was a native of the County of Monaghan, Ireland, and removed when very young (somewhere about the year 1810) to the city of Edinburgh, Scotland, where he remained until his emigration for America, which took place about 1820.

When about forty-five years of age he married and settled at Mendham, Morris county, New Jersey, which continued to be his home until about 14 years since, when he removed to Ohio. He was a devoted husband and father, and leaves a wife and six children to mourn his death and irreparable loss.

New York for Greeley—Gov. Hoffman's Baltimore Prediction.

A well known journalist, writing from Niagara Falls, New York, says: "I have just completed a tour through Wyoming, Orleans, Livingston and I might say, of all the counties west of Albany, in this State, and found great unanimity of feeling for Greeley and Brown in all the places I visited."

Mr. Peter H. Clark objects to Horace Greeley because he proposed at one time during the war, as one of the conditions of peace, to pay the slave owners—"loyal" if they please Mr. Clark—$400,000,000 for their slave property. Well, was it not a statesman-like proposition? Had the rebels accepted it, the North, instead of being burdened with a debt of $2,773,236,103 in 1867, would have got off with less than two billions, an actual saving of five hundred millions. The Union would have been restored, slavery abolished, peace established, and civil and political enfranchisement would necessarily have followed, for, once free, the blacks could not have been years deprived of any of the rights they now possess. Mr. Clark seems to think that the bigger the burden piled on the shoulders of the North, the better for the Nation. Perhaps he is one of the few who regard a National debt as a blessing in disguise.—Cm. Com.

In New Hampshire the defection of the Hon. E. H. Rollins from the Grant and Wilson ranks virtually settles the election and secures the State for Greeley and Brown. The influence of Mr. Rollins carried the State for the Republicans last spring, and his abandonment of Grant is the most serious blow their cause could receive in the Granite State.

The N. O. Republican says: "Gen. J. K. West, our Senator in Congress, intends to leave home immediately for Pennsylvania, where he will take the stump for Buckalew and Greeley and Brown. He will return in September, when he proposes to make a canvass of the entire State."

There was a splendid Greeley and Brown Hickory Pole raised on the Public Square, at Mansfield, on Saturday last, on which occasion General Aquilla Wiley, of Wooster, our candidate for Secretary of State, delivered an eloquent speech to an audience of over four thousand.

George H. Pendleton will return home from Germany in time to take part in the Presidential canvass. He expresses himself earnestly in favor of Greeley's election.

A Delightful Surprise. Ladies whose faces are clouded by superficial discolorations, and who have resolved to try Hagen's Magnolia Balm as a remedy, have no idea of the welcome surprise they will receive from their mirrors after a few applications of that beautiful perfume of the continent. If at all estimable, they will gaze with rapture on beholding the change; whether the blemish is it is desired to remove be sallowness, blotches, pimples, freckles, roughness, or an unsightly pore, it is bound to disappear under the tonic operation of this wonderful agent. To say that the blemish disappears, does not, however, convey any idea of the effect produced by this celebrated beautifier. The unsightly trace, whether diffused over the whole countenance or in spots, or patches, is replaced by a uniform, pearly bloom, to which no description can do justice.

No Lady's Toilet Complete. Unless there be the fragrant Sosozone, unto the breath sweet odors it imparts, the gums a ruby red alabaster tint, and seem pearls set in coral vase.
